

Did You

Know?

The credit bureaus—Transunion, Equifax and Experian sell the names and contact information of anyone that applies for a mortgage to other mortgage companies.

What this means for our Customers

After Applying for a Mortgage:

You may receive calls from other lenders. These other companies are often very aggressive with calls and sometimes even try to mislead people to get them to give up private information.

Scan for mail examples:

After Closing on a Mortgage:

You will receive mail that appears to be from us, but it is not. It may include loan specific information, including property address and loan type. If you look closely most say “Not affiliated with, sponsored by, and loan information not provided by your current lender.”

We will never sell your information and we cannot stop the credit bureaus from doing this.

Steps YOU Can Take to Reduce Unwanted Calls and Mail:

Visit www.donotcall.gov or call 888-382-1222 to add your number to the Do Not Call List. To request that the credit reporting agencies not share your information, call 888-567-8688 or visit their website optoutprescreen.com. To opt out of receiving unsolicited commercial mail from national companies, register at www.dmchoice.org.
